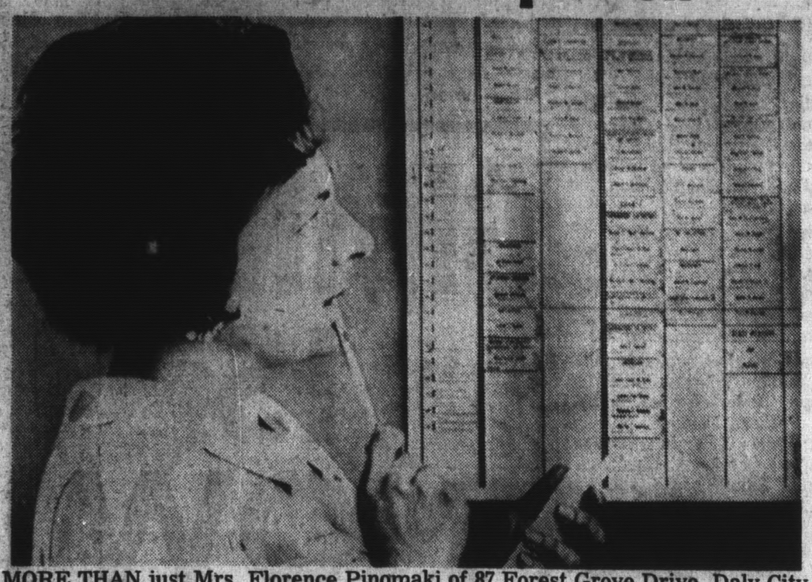
Serious Contemplation



MORE THAN just Mrs. Florence Pinomaki of 87 Forest Grove Drive, Daly City, will be able to imagine themselves in this complicated contemplation of the June 7 ballot that faces all eligible voters going to the polls throughout San Mateo County. What they'll face is the longest ballot in history. Over 50 candidates to choose from! (Post Photo)

Unification: Finally a Vote!

By DON MILLER

After three years of oratory, public hearings and scores of meetings, residents finally will get a chance Tuesday to vote on one of the most controversial proposals to face them in recent years—the unification of five North County school districts.

Up for a decision is a plan that would unify the Bayshore, Brisbane, Jefferson and Laguna Salada Elementary School Districts and the Jefferson High School District.

The resultant district would have a student population of 25,000.

On the same ballot with the unification proposal are three issues involved with unification: The election of a seven-man district board of trustees, the setting of a tax rate and the assumption of the five component districts' bonded indebtedness by the new district.

All but the bond assumption measure needs a majority vote for passage. The bond proposal needs a two-thirds vote.

If voters should approve unification, the new district would begin business July 1 and spend a year organizing its structure and educational program.

It would officially become operative July 1, 1967.

If unification is turned down, the five districts involved in the proposal would continue to operate as before and the state would prepare a new proposal.

Although the basic unification proposal has elicited wide interest, the focus of Tuesday's election has centered upon the trustee race.

Thirteen candidates, representing a variety of professions and occupations, are seeking election to the seven seats.

Members of the new board will be elected by trustee area rather than at-large. That is, each of the seven trustees will be elected by the residents of the school district he now lives in.

The Jefferson Elementary area will elect three trustees, Laguna Salada will choose two and Bayshore and Brisbane will elect one each.

Seats representing three of the four trustee areas will be contested. In the fourth area, Bayshore, only one candidate—Ferdinand G. King—is seeking election and therefore is assured of a board post.

He is a member of the Bayshore School board of trustees.

In the Brisbane area, two members of the Brisbane School District board of trustees are vying for one seat. They are Allen B. Rigler and Michael G. Nagy.

In the Jefferson area, four men—all presently school trustees—are competing for three

BROADMOOR RUNAWAY

Girl Tells Story of LSD, $75 a Day Heroin Habit

A 16-year-old Broadmoor girl was remanded to county juvenile authorities last week, ending a five-month runaway spree in which she became a user of LSD and then wound up selling LSD to support a heroin habit that cost her $75 a day.

The girl was seized by Berkeley police May 22 after a resident reported she thought the girl and a companion were runaways.

The Broadmoor girl told Berkeley authorities she had taken up heroin to get rid of the affects of a "bad trip" on LSD.

Broadmoor Police Chief Ray Savage said the girl had been reported missing by her mother on October 1 of last year.

The teen-ager, he said, had run away from home on a number of occasions before and at one time, had been placed in a foster home.

The foster home parents, however, couldn't control her and she was returned to her mother, Savage said.

Under questioning by Berkeley police, the girl unfolded a bizarre tale of wandering through Bohemian and LSD circles in San Francisco, Sausalito and finally the Telegraph Avenue section of Berkeley.

Savage said the tale went like this:

On the day she was last seen, the girl took a cab to her home, loaded it with a stereo outfit, a television set and other household goods she owned together with her mother.

She had lived with her mother and a sister and brother.The mother was divorced.

After leaving home, the girl settled on Eddy Street, a block away from Fillmore Street, in San Francisco. She met a number of people and moved to Sausalito.

In the Marin community, which has gained a reputation for attracting the Bohemian element and today's so-called "in" crowd, the girl started taking LSD, the hallucinatory drug.

On one "trip" with LSD, she had a bad experience and in an effort to rid herself of the lingering after-effects of the experience, she took an injection of heroin.

That started her on the heroin habit, which reached the point where she was spending $75 a day to buy the drug.

In December, she began to hemmorhage internally and signed herself into an Alameda hospital under a fictitious name. She stayed a week and then left, settling this time in the Telegraph Avenue area of Berkeley.

The area has become a gathering place, Berkeley police say, for runaways—not only from the Bay Area but from throughout the country.

In Berkeley, the girl began selling LSD to support her expensive heroin habit.

This way of life went on until May 22 when the Berkeley resident telephoned police, reporting she thought there were a couple of runaway girls in a Telegraph Avenue pizza parlor.

When police arrived at the parlor, the Broadmoor girl showed them identification papers that later proved to be stolen.

At headquarters, the girl then confessed that she had run away eight months earlier.

Chief Savage said she furnished Berkeley authorities with the names of alleged dope users and that some of the names were only first names, "like Zoro."

The girl, Savage said, has been booked on the runaway charge and on a charge of suspicion of being a narcotics user.

The chief said that when she was arrested, she had marks all over her arms and wrists.

He described her as a "fast girl—her mother had completely lost control of her." He said she was a student at Westmoor High School before running away.

A bill controlling LSD in California was signed Sunday by Gov. Edmund G. Brown. It will become effective 90 days after adjournment of the current legislature.

D.C. Getting Ready For A Facelifting

Daly City is getting set for its biggest beautification program in history.

In the fiscal year beginning July 1, the city plans to spend $115,000 sprucing up its streets, parks, hillsides and private property.

A major share of the cost will be contributed—the city hopes—by the federal government, in a grant from the department of Housing and Urban Development.

The money is available, the city has met all requirements for it, and officials hope the funds will be made available within the next few weeks.

The federal grant applied for amounts to $47,809—the maximum allowed under the government's financial formula.

The remaining $67,289 would be paid by the city, although only $27,282 of that would be cash expenditures. The remainder would be city serves, such as planting of trees, designing of landscaping and such.

In addition to the city's program, the State Division of Highways has earmarked $500,000 for landscaping 2.7 miles of the Junipero Serra and Southern Freeways, from Eastmoor Avenue in Daly City to San Jose Avenue in San Francisco.

In its application for federal funds, Daly City set forth the purposes of the urban beautification and improvement program:

To improve the urban scene through co-operative public and private efforts;

To improve the attractiveness of principal streets through the planting of trees;

To landscape public facilities such as the city hall, reservoirs, pumping stations and fire stations;

And to encourage and promote the work of neighborhood improvement associations and

Firemen At Bruno Save Two Girls

Shut Bedroom Door Helped

By WILL THOMAS

Two San Bruno firemen, Bob Hensel and Ron Robertson — and a closed bedroom door—saved the lives of two young girls asleep in the flaming smoke-engulfed family home at 248 Cypress Avenue May 24.

The girls' father, John Maria, 38, saved another daughter, who was with him at the time the blaze was discovered.

Maria's wife was working and not at home.

San Bruno Fire Marshal Harper Petersen said Maria—a Del Monte Meat Company truck driver—woke up to the smell of smoke at 9:55 p.m., quickly grabbed 2-year-old Jane Maria and dashed outside through the garage.

After taking Jane to a neighbor's home, he raced back to his own residence to rescue Susan Maria, about 10, and Jacqueline Maria, 5, while neighbors called firemen.

(Marshal Petersen noted that the South San Francisco fire department, which also has a Cypress Street address, was called first, but the alarm was relayed to San Bruno firefighters.)

Flames, heat, and dense smoke drove Maria back from the front door of his two-bedroom frame home in his at-

Times-Post Bureau For The Results

Citizens who want to know how the various political contests are developing after the polls close next Tuesday—election day—may keep abreast of the situation by calling the Times-Post election bureau.

The Times-Post staff will be on duty with early returns after 8 p.m. and until the results are conclusive.

For this election service, call WY 2-2262.

Complete results of the voting throughout San Mateo will be carried in the San Mateo Times editions of next Wednesday, and in the Post the following Wednesday.

Lyle Planje Heads C. of C. At Pacifica

Lyle Planje, manager of the Pacifica branch of the Wells Fargo Bank, is the new president of the Pacifica Chamber of Commerce.

Planje, who is embarking on his third three-year term on the board of directors which elected him, was selected last Thursday night in the board's chambers to succeed Stanley Vander Hule, who declined nomination for re-election because of business pressures and other business commitments.

Named to serve with Planje were Mario Torrigino, president of the Pacifica-based Coastside Scavenger Company, as vice president; Nita Buchanan, owner of Pacifica's two Mode O' Day stores, secretary, and Mike Wyman, manager of the Pacifica branch of the First National Bank of Daly City, treasurer.

The slate will be installed at the general chamber meeting June 9.

Serramonte, Ad Hoc Unit Sign Pact

Representatives of the Serramonte Realty Company last Wednesday joined leaders of the Ad Hoc Committee for Fair Housing in Serramonte in signing a five-point agreement pledging to sell homes in the huge Daly City development without regard to race, color or creed of the buyer.

The agreement, drafted in the San Francisco offices of the Bay Area Council for Civic Unity, was signed by Edward Fosdahl, sales manager for Serramonte; William Cody, public relations and advertising director for the firm, and Rev. Howard A. Bryant of Daly City and Albert N. Waters of South San Francisco, leaders of the Ad Hoc Committee.

"The whole spirit of the meeting was open and co-operative," said the Rev. Eugene R. Wolfe, executive director of the Council for Civic Unity. "We were very pleased."

The "memorandum of agreement," Wolfe said, puts into writing policies previously announced by the firm after several weeks of public criticism and picketing at the tract, which is planned to house an

VOTERS TO POLLS TUESDAY

Long Ballot Allows Citizens Big Choice

"I Feel Wonderful"

Vote 'Should Take Less Than Minute'

By DENIS WADE

San Mateo County voters will face the longest ballot in history Tuesday when they step into voting booths to choose from an unprecedented selection of 50 candidates.

Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

The primary ballot contains the greatest number of candidates for state offices, according to Attorney General Thomas Lynch. It also lists more contestants than in the past for San Mateo County offices.

In spite of the abundance of candidates, however, the office of County Clerk John Bruning maintains that a voter should be able to complete his ballot in less than a minute, by simply checking off choices beforehand on the voter's aid card enclosed with each sample ballot.

"The card will be an immense help to the voter," a spokesman said. "They can vote in 55 seconds."

Without the card to refer to, he added, he would just as soon not guess how long it might take to complete the lengthy ballot.

In addition to the dozens of candidates for state-wide office, these contestants are competing for election to posts in San Mateo County:

In the 11th Congressional District, Republican incumbent J. Arthur Younger faces no primary opposition, but two Democrats are vying for the right to oppose him in November.

They are Mark Sullivan, a Belmont teacher who lost to Younger two years ago, and Edward M. Keating, an Atherton publisher backed by the

BLONDE AND LOVELY

Vivian Rieger, 17, Is 'Miss Daly City'

By DENIS WADE

The new Miss Daly City is a 17-year-old Westmoor High School junior who aspires to be both a model and a secretary, is worried about the war in Viet Nam, and loves sundaes.

She is blonde, blue-eyed Vivian Rieger, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rieger of 506 Higate Avenue, Daly City.

Vivian was crowned last Thursday night at the climax of the 12th Annual Miss Daly City contest, by Susann Bernard, Miss Daly City of 1965.

"I feel wonderful," she gasped. "I can't believe it."

Standing shakily amid a crowd of 150 well-wishers in the banquet room of the Elks Club in South San Francisco, Vivian's winning smile looked for a moment as though it might dissolve into tears of joy.

"Smile, Vivian, smile," directed her proud father, and she did.

Miss Daly City of 1966 was chosen from five finalists, selected last month from a field of 15 contestants.

Runner-up was Judy Giles, another 17-year-old blonde, and also a Westmoor student.

Pat DeBernardi, 18, was second runner-up. She, too, attends Westmoor.

Third runner-up was 16-year-old Madelyn Martinelli, a junior at Jefferson High.

Fourth was Pat Hassman, a 23-year-old registered nurse who works at San Francisco General Hospital.

Vivian told master of ceremonies Carter B. Smith that she plans to attend College of San Mateo after she graduates from Westmoor next year. "I want to take a business course," she said.

In addition, she plans to model.

Smith wondered whether models have to diet.

"Oh, yes," she answered.

A Holiday D.C. Officer Won't Forget

Memorial Day, 1966, is one holiday Patrolman Richard Klass of Daly City is not likely to forget.

Recuperating in Mary's Help Hospital from a gunshot wound suffered May 6 in a struggle with an escaped prisoner, Klass received a surprise visit Monday from comedian Bill Cosby.

The entertainer, Klass had told fellow officers some time ago, is his favorite comedian. The patrolman has a collection of every recording Cosby has made.

Cosby last week concluded an engagement at Circle Star Theater in San Carlos.

county Democratic organization.

Republican State Senator Richard J. Dolwig is likewise unopposed in his party's primary next week—but two Democrats are trying for their party's nomination for Dolwig's seat in the 12th senatorial district.

The best known is Robert I. McCarthy, formerly a state legislator and director of the Department of Motor Vehicles. His rival is J. William Kelly, owner of a San Carlos bar.

Four candidates for the State Assembly are unopposed in the primary.

In the 27th District, incumbent Democrat Leo J. Ryan and his November challenger, Republican Robert N. Miller, a Millbrae real estate man, are the only contestants.

In the 26th District, Republican incumbent Carl Britschgi and Democrat Edward J. Kenney, a San Carlos engineer and contractor, have their party's ballots to themselves.

Two San Mateo County supervisors also appear alone on the ballot, although one will have organized write-in competition.

T. Louis Chess is unopposed in his bid for re-election in the third supervisorial district.

Jean Fassler will face write-in opposition from former Half Moon Bay Mayor John Carter, who entered the race after the filing deadline at the behest of foes of Mrs. Fassler's stand on a county dump.

The Second Supervisorial District race pits four qualified candidates for the seat formerly held by Edward McDonald, who retired in January due to ill health.

Adolph "Bud" Harrison, a Capuchino High School teacher, was appointed by Governor Brown to complete McDonald's term.

His challengers next week are U.S. Simonds, former mayor of Burlingame and a councilman there for eight years; Wesley Pomeroy, county undersheriff and member of the state bar, and Robert St. Clair, former Daly City councilman and mayor and a former star for the San Francisco 49ers.

Four candidates for County Assessor are on the ballot, vying for the office now held by Ralph E. Woodman, who is retiring.

James Paul Green is a Daly City real estate appraiser; Martin J. Sweeney a Menlo Park realtor; Thomas F. Noonan an employe of Pacific Telephone, and John H. Estes is the present assistant county assessor.

County Superintendent of Schools James R. Tormey is also retiring, while three men seek his office.

Albert R. Beardsley is the superintendent of the San Carlos School District; J. Russell Kent is superintendent of the Hillsborough School District, and Joseph N. Muldown is a San Mateo teacher and former school principal.

The County Recorder race includes seven contenders, who seek the office now held by another retiring official, Ruth Kirste. The seven:

Marvin Church, Millbrae councilman and auditor; John N. Thomas, Redwood City, a superior court clerk; Leonard Joesten, Redwood City, title company executive; Edward W. Rehanek, Redwood City, legal officer for the County Social Services Division; Thomas F. Ryan, South San Francisco real estate man; Alyn R. Beals, Redwood City real estate operator, and Robert Duffy, San Mateo, also a county superior court clerk.

County Treasurer Albert Sagehorn is running for re-election against two challengers, Joe Lewkowitz, treasurer of Daly City, and Paul Reyff, a retailer and former secretary to San Francisco Mayor John Shelley.

County Sheriff Earl B. Whitmore will also face two opponents next week, in the persons of Charles A. Linder, a shipyard employe and former member of the sheriff's reserve, and Broadmoor Police District Chief Ray W. Savage.

"models have to diet all the time."

And what is her favorite food?

"I just love sundaes," she exclaimed.

"There goes that," said Smith — but so far, at least, sundaes have not had any adverse effects on Miss Rieger's figure, which is an eye-pleasing 36-24-36.

At five-feet-eight, she made quite an impression on the five judges, who rated all five candidates in both swimsuit and evening gown competition, and on their poise and personality as they were interviewed by M.C. Smith.

With a huge smile, Vivian clutched her Miss Daly City trophy and a dozen red roses and said she is excited about competing in the Dream Girl contest at the San Mateo County Fair and Floral Fiesta in July.

The winner of that competition will go on to the State Fair, and could become Miss America.

Vivian's prizes last week included a $1,000 scholarship from the LaVonne Valentine Modeling Agency, another $200 modeling scholarship, and dozens of gift certificates from Daly City merchants exchangeable for everything from a wrist watch to a resort trip.

Guests at the final judging overflowed the facilities provided for them, and extra tables had to be set up for the dinner and fashion show which preceded the introduction of the ffinalists.

Among the 150 persons attending the affair was Daly City Mayor Albert Polonsky, who congratulated the new Miss Daly City on her victory.

Also present were County Supervisors T. Louis Chess and Jean Fassler.

ultimate population of some 20,000.

The developers have pledged to sell any available home in Serramonte "to all persons, regardless of race, color or creed," under specified terms. The agreement goes on to list specific prices, down payments and other financial considerations which must be met by any buyer of a home.

In addition, Serramonte has agreed to consider hiring non-Caucasians as salesmen at the development, in an effort to assure the public that it has ended its policy of discrimination.

Further, Wolfe said, the Serramonte representatives promised to extend their newspaper advertising program, when possible, to publications directed to minorities as well as those of more general circulation.

Advertisements will also include the statement "equal opportunity housing," to make it clear that all persons are invited to purchase homes in Seramonte.

The agreement goes on to consider the possibility of "ghettos" within the new tract, and specifies that Serramonte "will attempt to prevent any concentration of racial or ethnic groups, and will take steps for their dispersion within the tract."

Finally, the company and the Ad Hoc committee agreed that Serramonte will submit quarterly reports to the Fair Housing Council of San Mateo County, in which will be disclosed any changes in the terms of the agreement.

The reports are also to include the number and location of houses sold to members of four racial groups: Negro, oriental, American Indian and Mexican-American.

If any complaints or disputes arise, they are to be discussed jointly with Fosdahl and a subcommittee of the Council for Civic Unity.

Wolfe said the meeting was arranged by Harvey Sachs, a newsman for KGO in San Francisco, who convinced Serramonte spokesmen that they should break their corporate silence and agree to a long-standing invitation to meet with fair housing advocates.

"We were very pleased with the attitude brought to the meeting," Wolfe said, "and with the agreement reached."

He added that he hopes it may set a standard for other developers to follow.

tempt to get back in to save his other two daughters.

When told there were still two children in the house, Firemen Hensel and Robertson donned special suits and fought their way through heat and heavy, choking smoke to the girls' bedroom, where the children apparently still slept behind a closed door.

"Thank God the door was closed," Petersen emphasized, "or they would have been gone. Between these two firemen and the door being closed their lives were saved."

Petersen said none of the fire victims appeared to be hurt, although oxygen was given Jacqueline to "clear out her lungs a little."

Both Maria and Jane were "stone black," he said, as a result of their dash to fresh air outside the burning home, and Jacqueline and Susan surprisingly were just a bit dirty.

He placed the possible blame for the fire as a cigarette that set a sectional sofa ablaze—one which had been going for nearly an hour before it was discovered, after leaping to drapes and other furniture.

Damage was estimated at "roughly" $2,000, mostly to furniture and from the extreme heat and soiling smoke.

LATE SPORTS

Rams Bow Twice In Tournament

North Peninsula League baseball champion Westmoor bowed twice last week in the Redwood Tournament of Champions in Marin County.

The Rams lost their opening round game, 2-1, to Marin Catholic, and then bowed in the consolation game, 4-1, to Arroyo.

Marin won the tournament, defeating Lincoln of San Jose in the championship game, 4-1.

In their game with Marin, the Rams carried a 1-0 lead into the bottom of the fourth when the tourney champs tied the score. Marin tallied the decisive marker in the next frame. Corky Phelps, who gave up only three hits, was the losing pitcher.

Ben Burch of Marin was the winner. He gave up two hits and struck out 10.

In the consolation game, Ram Coach Rod Losberger utilized all of his 20-man roster. Sophomore pitcher Steve Bach started and went four innings before being relieved by Paul Pucci.

Finally, a Unification Vote

seats. The candidates and their board affiliations are:

Elio Fontana, Jefferson High School District; Raymond J. Milton, Jefferson High; George G. Perry, Jefferson Elementary and Edward Solomon, Jefferson High.

The most spirited race will take place in the Laguna Salada area where six candidates are vying for two seats. Three candidates are now school board members. The field includes:

Dale W. Buettgenbach, Laguna Salada board; James M. Cooper, Jefferson High; Stanley M. Farber, Pacifica pharmacist; Wilbur C. Frye, a business analyst; Charles A. Hauser Jr., Laguna Salada board, and Walter A. Henkel, an engineer.

A seventh person, Mrs. Anita R. Heyman, a housewife, also will be on the Laguna Salada trustee area ballot. However, Mrs. Heyman has announced her withdrawal from the race and has asked residents not to vote for her.

Her withdrawal came too late for her name to be taken off the ballot.

The new seven-man board would represent a reduction of 18 trustees from the 25 board members who now govern the five districts proposed for unification.

On the ballot to have the unified district assume the bonded debtedness of all the component districts, a two-thirds vote is needed in each of the districts if the measure is to pass.

Failure of the measure would force the new district to sell bonds up to 5 per cent of its assessed valuation to qualify for state school building aid.

Bond interest costs would be reflected in the tax rate.

The tax rate to be voted upon Tuesday would be $4.47 per $100 of assessed valuation.

Opponents of the unification proposal say that the rate would be insufficient to maintain the educational program now being conducted in the five districts and to draw up and maintain an equitable teacher salary schedule that would take the place of the five present district schedules.

Proponents of unification point to a total of $375,000 in bonus moneys that the five districts will receive if they unify.

The proposal to unify the districts was approved by the State Board of Education after the proposal had been recommended by a special review committee.

The committee had been named by the state after a plan to split the Jefferson High School District had twice been turned down by the state board.

The present proposal had come before the San Mateo County Committee on School Reorganization but had failed to gain approval.

It Was All Quiet in The North County

It was all quiet on the North County front over the Memorial Day weekend.

Law enforcement agencies said the number of calls they had received during the three-day holiday period was surprisingly low.

A spokesman for Mary's Help Hospital said the weekend was "the quietest" at Mary's Help since the hospital opened late last year.

other civic groups with regard to the beautification of those privately owned lands having a strong visual impact on the cityscape, including bare slopes in hillside subdivisions.

The city contemplates close co-operation with the division of highways, San Mateo County agencies, and other public and private groups concerned.

Among the projects planned for this year are improvements to seven city parks, including landscaping and drainage, fencing and sprinkler installation.

Landscaping is also planned for the new city hall site, two city reservoirs, and the Westlake pumping station.

Two other pumping stations will get decorative fences to screen them from their neighbors, while street trees are to be planted along San Pedro Road and Westlake Avenue.

Two "tot lot" playgrounds in Serramonte will be landscaped and equipped.

Nor do the city's plans stop there.

The beautification program also includes projects for 1967-68 and 68-69, including the planting of nearly 400 trees along both sides of Junipero Serra Boulevard, and along the entire length of San Fernando Way.

Another 336 trees are planned for Market Street and Hillside Boulevard.

New Owner At Pacifica Mode O'Day

Lee Nerli of Pacifica, a former Westlake resident, announced that she assumed ownership of the Mod-o-Day store, 446 Manor Plaza, Pacifica, today.

Mrs. Nerli, whose husband, Gino, died two years ago, lived 4½ years in Daly City and was a beauty shop manager and a model.

Active in bowling circles, she has been secretary of seven leagues at one time or another, and welcomes her bowling and other friends to visit her at the Mod O'Day store.

Mrs. Nerli said she plans to give the store "personal attention."

She has three daughters, Mrs. Beverly Lizio of Linda Mar, Mrs. Jean Hugo of Cupertino and Mrs. Pat Stewart of Honolulu.

AUDREY B. SMITH of 651 St. Francis Boulevard, Daly City, stands next to a Riccar sewing machine she won in a customer drawing at Hudson's Shoes at 1 San Pedro Road in Daly City.

Rabbi Morris to Be Honored

Rabbi Herbert Morris of the Temple on Brotherhood Way will celebrate ten years in the rabbinate at a special service honoring him on June 3. The Temple Judea Board of Trustees will host the Oneg Shabbat. This occasion will also mark Teacher Recognition Sabbath at the Temple.

Marijuana Count Lodged Against Brisbane Man

Giving a neighbor lady two cigarettes caused the arrest of a Brisbane truck driver last Saturday. The cigarettes allegedly were made of marijuana.

Sgt. John Grillo and Officer Warren Coombs said they arrested truck driver John Edward Lenz, 40, 349 Monterey Street, after he gave the cigarettes to a visitor.

Lenz, they said, had eight more cigarettes hidden under some tranquilizers in a pillbox in his kitchen.

He was booked on two felony charges, furnishing marijuana to another person, and possession of marijuana while having previously been convicted of a similar charge.

Police said Lenz had been jailed in Bakersfield in 1962 for furnishing marijuana to minors, and that his 16-year-old son and 17-year-old daughter have also been convicted of possessing the drug.

Sgt. Grillo said Lenz was arrested after police picked up the visiting neighbor for questioning on another matter, and discovered the cigarettes in her purse.

D.C. Okays 4 Businesses

Daly City Councilmen last Monday night approved the issuance of licenses for four new businesses within the city.

The applicants are:

Barbara Lee Stuckert, 135 Camelia Drive, for the Guaranteed Bookkeeping Service.

W. P. Hansen and P. C. Bistolfi, 211 Eighty-seventh Street, for a garage repair business moved from a location on Mission Street.

Ross Schendel and Mario Caprini, 1600 Sullivan Avenue, for the M and R Car Wash.

Bill Phillips and Dave Bostrum, 6565 Mission Street, for the Cycle Center.

Spindrift Players Set Drama

"Burning Bright," the John Steinbeck drama produced by The Spindrift Playhouse last weekend will continue this Friday and Saturday at the Pacifica Branch of the San Mateo County Library Community Room, Palmetto and Hilton, in the Sharp Park district.

"Tickets may be reserved by telephone," said Luther Spraker, production manager. "Last weekend the capacity of the room was filled, and those who came almost had to stand. Tickets may be reserved by calling 355-6735."

The play concerning a man's desire to keep his blood line enduring despite his inability to produce children is one of Steinbeck's outstanding themes. The use of a young man as substitute father proclaims the playwright's idea that men are fathers to all sons.

Camper Dies At Pacifica

A San Francisco man fell face down into a campfire early this morning after collapsing over it at a Pacifica beach, according to Deputy Corner Robert Cawley.

Dead on arrival at Mary's Help Hospital at 5:30 a.m. was John Cecil Jerome, 61, a steel company employe, who had been camping with his wife Velma, at the beach, Cawley said. Jerome had gotton up to start the fire and had it going when he fell into it, Cawley said. He was pulled out immediately.

Death apparent was from natural causes.

By LE PACINI

WHAT FOLLOWS won't endear us to the Pacifica Chamber of Commerce, but then if a writer suppressed every story which didn't turn out the way he expected it to, he would often have nothng to write about.

Wanting a real expert's objective analysis of Pacifica's favorite pastime, surfing, we went to Pacifica resident Dick Herbeson who, when he was behind the plank at Joe's of Westlake, was popularly known for his monumental frozen daiquiries — nine inches from glass bottom to cherry tip-top—by actual measure.

Known to only a few, however, is the fact that the modest Dick was in reality a whiz-bang surfer during his prep school days in Hawaii.

For the sake of absolute accuracy, we even traveled for a face-to-face interview to Fisherman's Wharf, where Dick—and the Chamber may think this appropos—now constructs frozen daiquiris for the Alcatraz Room in the newly formed Meigg's Wharf Restaurant complex, drawing his insporation from the towering masts of the Balclutha, berthed across the street.

We asked Dick to compare Pacifica surfing with surfing in the Islands.

"I can't," said Dick, who's spent much of his adult life behind bars (the plank type), "I've never surfed in Pacifica."

We made the mistake of asking why.

"Because," replied Dick, immediately ending our interview, "It's too cold."

The Alcatraz Room, which is billed as the place to escape TO, doesn't stop at employing merely one unique bartender. Manager Clay Wolfe, former Daly City resident, All-City center at San Francisco's Balboa High, and football and golf star (two handicap) at pre-war Chico State College, reversed a fairly standard process.

Where as many young men have tended bar to work their way through teacher's college, Clay taught school to work his way through a bartender's apprenticeship.

As one can see, the Alcatraz Room is very metropolitan. It's in San Francisco, tended by a surfer from Pacifica who'se never surfed there, managed by an ex-Daly City resident for whom school teaching was an avocation—and will somebody please tell us of what practical value are Balclutha-inspired nine-inch frozen daiquiries?

HISTORY, WE KNOW, often repeats itself — but seldom in reverse. Couple of weeks ago we told a tale of a "B" division 880 relay runoff between Terra Nova and Westmoor. As you may remember, it was a sudden death race, re-run because of a previous Ram protest in the regular season duel meet in which TN originally grabbed the "B" championship by one point because of its protested 880 victory.

We noted at the time that the sanest remark about the cliff-hanging re-run, won by Westmoor, came from a Tiger participant in the race. Sloughing off all of the technical "reasons" for the loss (poor handoffs, etc.), he said: "They ran faster than we did."

Terra Nova coach Dennis Lanterman, the world's greatest optimist, had more to say. "Half a title is better than none. We'll beat them in the league finals."

(Note: in the NPL, one point is awarded for the regular season title, one for the finals title. Hence, different teams winning each end are considered co-champs).

Some thought it was whistling in the dark, but it wasn't. Terra Nova won and again it was the 880 relay team that had to decide the victory. It took a league record to win it, a truly gutty performance by relay runners Bob Keeler, Steve Wilson, Ralph Laino and Jim Phillips.

After the meet, Wilson, author of the run-off quote, again analyzed the race. "We ran faster than they did."

WITH TERRA NOVA track still in mind . . . varsity shot putter Rich Zimmer is the only shot man in NPL history to ever have an undefeated season . . . and Tiger assistant track and football coach Terry Moss leaves the area in the fall for a head track coaching job at Auburn High School.

And one more Terra Nova item. Jim Boyette, among TN's first graduating class in 1962 and one of the school's first football heros (a slashing halfback), graduates from Annapolis next week.

From Oceana comes news that the only baseball coach the Sharks have ever known, Frank Lawler, will retire from the PE department in the fall to devote full time to counseling duties.

Lawler, former East Bay prep and S.F. State baseball star, did a magnificent job with a new school's baseball team during his tenure. His boys were never less than respectable—even in their first groping year or two of varsity play. Taking Lawler's place will be Harry Vaplon, current Shark frosh-soph coach.

RANDOM BASEBALL THOUGHTS: Considering Leo Durocher's character, personality and general all around class, and the Cubs' standing in the National League, one must indeed agree that the Cubs are Leo's kind of team.

When Mays, Brown and Alou are in the same outfield, and when Alou's arm isn't sore, the Giants have probably the finest trio of throwing arms in the majors . . . they might not be using them as effectively as the Dodgers, right now, but the Yankees also have four switch-hitters on their team: Mantle and Tresh, of course, plus rookie outfielder Roy White and second year utility infielder Horace Clarke . . . .

We wonder how good a commissioner Judge Landis would have been today, with all of the college graduates employing agents, lawyers, spokesmen, etc. Landis was a tough old man who lived in a tough old time, and we personally feel he would have lost patience with today's businessmen-athletes and would have either been fired or have cut a swatch through the game wide enough to perhaps at least temporarily cripple it.

Today's commissioners must be public relations men first, businessmen second, leaders last. Landis was certainly not a public relations man, had no truck with "business" because to him baseball was a sport, and he was a dictator, not a leader.

But all that aside, Landis was the perfect man man for baseball at the time He served. He saved and perpetuated the game.

Serra Athletes Receive Awards

Serra High School held its annual Spring Awards night in its auditorium last week with eight athletes receiving special recognition.

Pitcher Al Paganucci won the "most valuable player" honors in baseball, while another hurler, Steve MacLeod, was the recipient of the "outstanding player" award.

In track and field, Scott Pardi was the "most valuable player" and Jerry Tallon was named "outstanding player." Tom Bach received the "most improved player" award.

The swimming MVP honors went to John Ryan, with John Gill getitng the "oustanding player" award. John Barrett named outstanding freshman.

Rams' Losberger, Phelps Honored

By GARRY NIVER
Post Sports Writer

A youth who campaigned on the other side of the plate last season and his coach, whose success has already been established, head the 1966 All-North Peninsula League baseball team as selected by NPL coaches.

Westmoor's Corky Phelps, who made the All-NPL team in 1965 as a catcher, was named "Player of the Year" with his coach, Rod Losberger, being accorded "Coach of the Year" honors.

Phelps was joined on the 12-man "dream team" by teammates Greg Agar and Bob Gibbons. Jefferson also placed three men on the team, naming Ron Mini, George Egan and Al Namanny.

Completing the 1965 team are Vic Ornelas and Gary Andreacchi of El Camino, Jim Henry of South San Francisco, Jim Maule of Terra Nova, Max Tellez of Oceana, and Russ Truffa of Half Moon Bay.

Phelps, who came within a whisker of being unbeatable on the mound this season after trading in his catcher's mask for a rosin bag, led the Rams to their first North Peninsula League title.

Phelps had a 10-1 hurling record in league play this year and recorded an amazing earned run average of 0.85.

For Losberger it was his first NPL title in four tries, but his third championship. His Westmoor teams of 1960 and 1961 captured the now defunct Peninsula League titles.

Agar, one of the two juniors to make the team, was the second leading hitter in the league with a .406 average. He also led the NPL in homers with four and RBIs with 13. Gibbons, an outfielder, batted .390, as did two other flychasers—Andreacchi and Truffa.

Henry was a near-unanimous pick as he led the league in batting with a .459 average and failed to make an error in 84 chances at first base.

Mini of the Indians had a 4-2 mark in league play and sported a respectable 1.45 ERA. His battery mate Egan hit .270, while Jeff's other all-star, Namanny, batted .395.

Camino's Ornelas, who batted .324, led the league in runs scored with 11. Truffa, Half Moon Bay's first all-NPL selection in any sport, hit .316 for the winless Cougars.

The only non-Texas member of the Southwest Conference is Arkansas.

Pee Wee Reese, former All-Star shortstop of the Brooklyn Dodgers, played on six losing teams in the World Series.

AMERICAN DIVISION MIDGET BASEBALL LEAGUE

The PAL Indians moved into undisputed possession of second place last week by grabbing a pair of victories from two American Division teams. The first game saw the Indians down the OLM Bears, 7-1, behind the one-hit pitching of Gavin Long. In the second game the Indians were down 6-0 but fought back to tie it in the fifth inning, 6-6, and then go on to win the game 10-6. George Parry led all Indian batters with three hits in four trips to the plate. The Orioles were led by the hitting of Mike Solari who went two for three, including a grand-slam homerun.

The BYA Tin Knockers ran their win streak to eight games in a row by blanking the BYA Darts, 9-0, behind the four-hit combined pitching efforts of John Stack and Ed Cereghino. Bob Ferrari led the Tin Knockers' offensive attack with three hits in four trips to the plate.

The Weinstein Flying Goose Sluggers romped past the OLM Bears, 9-5, behind the power hitting of Mike Garcia, Ernie Martinez and Isaac Gonzales. All three hitters collected three hits apiece but the big blow came off of Garcia's bat as he connected for two-run homer in the first inning.

The Daly City Volkwagon Bugs downed the OLM Panthers 5-1 behind the one-hit pitching of Don Thuener. Leading the hitting for the Bugs was Frank Marques who went two for two.

Pitcher Jerry Toneili led the OLM Panthers to a 7-0 win over the OLPH Orioles as he struck out 12 batters while allowing only one hit.

The BYA Tin Knockers, led by the no-hit pitching performance of Gary Baptista, shut out the OLM Panthers 7-0 for their ninth win in a row. Bob Ferrari collected two hits to lead the Tin Knockers' hitting.

The PAL Redsox strengthened their hold on second place last week by downing the Hunts Donuts Braves, 4-3, and clobbering the OLPH Bluejays, 13-1. In the first game Hunts and the Redsox played to a 3-3 tie for six innings. In the seventh inning Redsox catcher Mark Sanguinetti blasted a double which drove in the winning run and both teams went home. In the second game, it was the bat of Dave Gonzales that paved the way for the Redsox victory. Gonzalez went five for five and scored a pair of runs. Third baseman Bob Chappell collected a hit and scored OLPH's only run.

The PAL Giants split a pair last week as they blanked the OLPH Cardinals, 4-0, in the first game but ran into some hitting problems in the second game which saw the BYA Astros come out on top, 9-0. The Giants were sparked by pitcher Tom Plazza, who held the opposition to just one hit while collecting a pair himself in the OLPH game. Ken Block collected the only OLPH hit.

In the second game it was the arm of BYA pitcher Jim Woods that silenced the Giants bats. Woods held the Giants to just two hits and helped his own cause by belting two safeties and scoring a pair of runs. Peter Robb led all BYA hitters with a three for three at the plate.

The PAL Dodgers remained undefeated in league play as they blanked the BYA Astros, 4-0, behind the two-hit pitching of Gary Lindsey. Bill Casillas led the Dodgers at the plate with three for three.

Boy Found Injured On Front Lawn

Puzzled San Bruno police were trying to determine how a 16-year-old boy, found lying in wet swimming trunks on a front lawn last Tuesday night, suffered injuries severe enough to be hospitalized.

The youth, Glen H. Lane of 336 Paramount Drive, Millbrae, was admitted to Peninsula Hospital with multiple cuts and bruises.

Patrolman Norman Dunham said the youth was found lying on a lawn across the street from the Capuchino High School swimming pool at 900 Hacienda Drive shortly after 8.

Dunham had been sent to the school when police received a report that an ambulance had been requested.

When he arrived on the scene, Dunham said, he saw a number of youths scrambling over a fence surrounding the swimming pool and running in all directions.

The injured youth, the patrolman said, was unable to give him an account of what had happened.

Planners To Ponder Hilly D.C. Parcels

Two hilly, oddly shaped parcels of Daly City land created problems for the City Planning Commission last night—and commissioners indicated that they will need considerable time and discussion before they act further on either one.

The first is an application by Jack Papazian for rezoning of his land north of Mary's Help Hospital, between Sullivan Avenue and San Fernando Way, from single-family residential to planned-development.

The new zoning would allow implementation of an integrated plan which tentatively includes a convalescent hospital, apartments and offices, each separated from the other by grading and landscaping.

Before it allows the zone change, the commission asked for details of the proposed development to be worked out between the developers and the city's planning staff.

Also holding up the project, which commissioners are generally enthusaistic about, is a narrow slice of land along the Sullivan Avenue side which is owned by the state. The development depends on extension of Santa Paula Drive through the state land.

The state, however, has refused to sell the land privately, and instead plans to auction it off in August.

The second problem parcel of land confronting the commission lies on the steep lower slope of Daly City's southern hills, adjacent to Carter Street, which is accessible only by way of Geneva Avenue in San Francisco.

The commission turned down a request to zone the land for single residences, and recommended that the applicant ask for planned development zoning instead.

This, the commissioners pointed out, would give the city complete control over the development, eliminating any chance of the barren slopes between houses which are a hallmark of some earlier hillside developments.

Also a problem is access to the land, which can be reached only from Carter Street. That street becomes virtually one-way when a drive-in theater and the Cow Palace discharge hundreds of cars down the hill.

During such periods, commissioners said, it would be impossible for fire-fighting equipment to reach the area in question, and just as impossible for residents to get there.

In other business, the commission denied a request for a 30-square-foot illuminated sign facing Southgate Avenue at Skyline Plaza Shopping Center.

"I don't believe that signs belong in a commercial area facing into a residential area," said chairman Richard Dwyer, summing up the feelings of his fellow commissioners. They unanimously denied the application by Plantation Golden Fried Chicken.

The commission did approve three unlit wall signs for a proposed State Farm Insurance building on Eastmoor Avenue, after assurance by a spokesman for the firm that the entire building will be designed and landscaped to blend into the neighborhood.

The Duffel Bag That 'Whirred'

Airman Kenneth B. Amlung of Texas probably would be flabergasted if he knew what kind of an uproar his carefully packed duffel bag created in South San Francisco last Wednesday.

The airman had shipped the bag from Laughlin Air Force Base in Texas to his new duty station in the Philippines.

The bag wound up in a routine way in a vehicle of the Lambis Trucking Company at 325 Corey Way, South San Francisco, and when a workman carried the bag from the truck yesterday, he heard a strange, whirring noise.

Suspecting the worst in view of the war in Vietnam and in view of stories he had heard about servicemen shipping all sorts of things these days, Walter Faver, a dispatcher for the company, worriedly called police.

South San Francisco police, equally as worried, rushed two lieutenants, two sergeants, a detective and a patrolman to the scene.

Gingerly, they opened the duffel bag and peered warily inside.

There, whirring away, was a battery-powered shoe shine kit.

With an audible sigh of relief, the officers took out the shoe shine kit, removed the batteries, carefully repacked the duffle bag and sent it on its way.

Householder Astonished As Truck Rolls By Into House

A San Bruno Streets Department truck rolled unattended down a street last Wednesday afternoon, jumped a curb and careened into the cement foundation of a house while the occupant, watering her lawn nearby, stood by, astonished at the scene.

Only minor damage to the house, however, was reported by the occupant, Irene A. Hamman of 2161 Rollingwood Drive.

The driver of the truck, Michael Azzopardi, 57, of 841 Reid Avenue, San Bruno, told police he had parked the truck with the wheels curbed, the handbrake set and the clutch in neutral while the engine was running.

As he got out to patch part of the street pavement nearby, the truck began to roll, he told police. While it was rolling, he unsuccessfully tried to get into the vehicle to halt it.

Authorities said an investigation determined that the handbrake on the truck was defective.

By NELL NORTON

I GUESS most of you good cooks have heard the phrase, "Chicken on Sunday and feathers the rest of the week." It is used to describe an improvident person who spends all of the money on one big splurge and then has nothing for necessities. This phrase was so common and so popular at one time that there was a book written using part of it in its title.

The saying had its beginning back in the days when chicken was a rare delicacy for many and therefore reserved for Sunday and company. Now however it's hardly applicable for chicken has become one of the staples in our menu due to its easy availability and moderate price.

This combination of availability and price makes new recipes for chicken quite popular. So I'm happy to pass on this recipe for fried chicken that my family thought delicious. It has a rather unusual title, which is more than just a name, it describes the type of skillet which should be used in preparing the recipe.

IRON SKILLET FRIED CHICKEN

1 frying chicken, cut up
½ cup buttermilk
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon savory salt
¼ teaspoon paprika
1½ cup self-rising flour

Place cut up chicken in buttermilk which has been seasoned with salt, pepper, savory salt and paprika. Move chicken pieces around in the milk and seasonigs to be sure they are well coated.

Put the self-rising flour (more about that later) in a paper bag. Flour each piece separately and take gently from the bag so to hold the flour.

Fry ten minutes in one-half inch of hot grease, turning only once. Use iron skillet. Right here I want to pause and say that unless you have the world's largest iron skillet or the world's smallest chicken, you are not going to be able to fit all the pieces of chicken into it at once. So do as I did, fry part, remove to a dish and fry the rest.

After browning, place all the chicken in the skillet. You can crowd it all you need to now. Place the skillet in the oven (no lid please). Cook at 350 degrees for 30 minutes. Remove from oven and drain well on paper towling.

NOW FOR a little chat about self-rising flour. Self-rising flour is all-purpose flour which contains salt and a leavening agent, usually bicarbonate of soda and calcium phosphate. This type of flour is not used so much in this area as most of us use regular all-purpose flour and add our own leavening. This recipe comes from Kentucky where it is more often used.

Not having any self-rising flour on hand I made my own by adding 1 teaspoon of soda, and ½ teaspoon salt, to the 1½ cups of flour. I used only soda and salt, as was using buttermilk and also this was not as delicate a job as baking a cake and the leaving didn't have to be that carefully measured and added.

The chicken turned out perfectly, so I feel my estimate of the leavening was right.

CARAMEL FUDGE FROSTING

2 cups (1 box of light brown sugar)
½ cup margarine
½ cup evaporated milk
Dash of salt
1 teaspoon vanilla

Place in a heavy pan over low heat, stir constantly. Bring to a boil, boil for only three minutes. Remove from heat, add vanilla.

Beat without cooling until light in color and of a nice spreading consistency. If it gets hard in the pan as you are spreading, add a drop or two of hot water. This makes a generous amount of frosting which tops off this cake perfectly.

Bond Sale Authorized For New Park Pacifica School

Trustees of the Laguna Salada Union School District last week directed the school administration to begin preparations for the sale of bonds for the purchase of a new elementary school site in Park Pacifica.

The administrative staff was also given the green light for preparation of plans for the building.

Actual design of the new school will not begin, however, until appraisers have completed a survey of costs, and an assessment of the district's three open-plan schools has been completed.

According to Dist. Supt. Fred Lucas, a site has already been chosen for the plant.

It is too early, he added, to tell how the new school will fit into the district's plans for future groupings of upper-grade classes in certain schools.

In other action, the board approved the offering of contracts to 14 new teachers and one principal for the 1966-67 school year, and the employment of four teachers for the 1966 summer session.

The board also accepted six teacher resignations.

Members considered a request by the Laguna Salada Education Association, which represents district teachers, that the board take action to restore sick leave lost as a result of work-incurred injuries prior to September, 1963, when state legislation doing so went into effect.

Four employes could be affected, according to the association. Trustees agreed to review the matter at an executive session June 14.

Another L.S.E.A. request, for extension of the district's sabbatical leave program, was referred back to the association's executive board for possible negotiation by the meet and confer panel.

D.C. Project: Let There Be (More) Light

Things are looking bright in the older sections of Daly City these days—7,500 lumens bright, to be exact.

That's the rating of the new mercury-vapor street lamps which are being installed by the Pacific Gas and Electric Company at the city's request.

The PG&E bears all the expense of the installation, according to City Engineer Arthur Reschke. Cost to the city will be about 60 cents a month extra for each of the units.

Some 400 new lamps will have been installed by the time the project is completed, in about three months.

Work is already finished in the Bayshore district and much of the older area east of Junipero Serra Boulevard.

One result, said City Councilman Bernard Lycett, will be a reduction in crime, vandalism and accidents — factors which he said have definitely been correlated with the amount of street lighting.

In that regard, Daly City might expect a dramatic drop in such incidents in the older areas, where present street lights are rated as low as 1,000 lumens and average 2,500 lumens. The increase in brightness will range from 300 to 750 per cent.

Reschke said he would like to see the mercury vapor lamps extended to Daly City's newer areas, such as Westlake — but there, he said, the entire cost would be borne by the city, a fact which may delay the conversion for some time.

Bruno Drug Store Theft; 2 Suspected

San Bruno police are on the lookout for two youths, about 18 or 19 years old, who are suspected of taking two money bags containing approximately $400 in cash from Maule's Drug Store, 577 San Mateo Avenue, last week.

Owner Joshua Maule Jr. told police the two came into the store separately shortly before closing time. One diverted the pharmacist by asking to be shown electric razors at the front of the store, while the other browsed at the rear.

He Thought That Was The End Of It

When Alfred F. Jones tossed some smoldering divan pillows out the backdoor of his house at 217 Florida Avenue in San Bruno Friday morning, he thought that was the end of a fire in his couch.

A few hours later, however, smoke billowed up from the couch and this time Jones called firemen.

They quickly removed the couch and put out the fire—completely.

Vandals Cause $1,150 Damage

Vandals roamed through four new empty homes on Wexford Drive in South San Francisco last Tuesday, causing damage and stealing equipment estimated at a total of $1,150.

The vandalism was reported by Peninsula Master Builders of Burlingame.

Police said the vandals took large mirrors, broke light globes and wrote obscenities on walls. Wexford is in the Westborough subdivision.

COMMENT

Recommendations For School Board

THE PROPOSED Jefferson Unified School District, if it is approved by voters next Tuesday, most certainly will require the capabilities of seven proven men whose prominent or promising backgrounds in business and other important activities are coupled with an intense working interest in the education.

They must reflect intelligent understanding of the coordinating, financial and common-sense values, competently applied to the direction and guidance of an immense operation of tremendous scope.

The trustees will be elected June 7, to take office if unification is approved.

THEY MUST BE geared soundly to the challenges of full unification, which in time will afford a district program of greater continuity, co-ordination and flexibility than the North County has ever seen.

There will be the continuous challenge of reconciling the dire need to operate the unified district—which will encompass several smaller districts—within the taxpayers' financial capabilities, with developing realistic policies of administration, while—at the same time—offering schooling of our children.

To do so will take the leadership of trustees with mature judgement, who have records of experience along these lines; at the very least, men who have shown high degrees of competence and responsibility in their professions, trades or community interests.

WITH THESE ambitious, though necessary requisites in mind, the Post recommends the election of these seven candidates, whom—we think—will lead the North County educational programs at the policy-making level capably, honestly and earnestly:

JEFFERSON (three seats)—George G. Perry, Elio Fontana and Raymond J. Milton.

LAGUNA SALADA (two seats)—Dale W. Buettgenbach and James M. Cooper.

BRISBANE (one seat)—Allen B. Rigler.

BAYSHORE (one seat)—Ferdinand G. King.

Here's why . . .

Jefferson—Mr. Fontana, of course, is widely known and respected as a veteran of 14 years on the Jefferson High board, and currently is its chairman. He is president of the Fontana Monument Company. His experience and the high regard other trustees have for him (and the faith the general citizenry has for him) make him a top choice.

Milton, elected in 1965 to the Jefferson High board, has proven himself highly conversant with educational needs in his district. His association with education goes further however, in that he is head of the Lowell High School social studies department.

Perry, a Pacific Gas and Electric Company claims and safety department employe, similarly has school board experience as a member of the Jefferson Elementary School Board of Trustees, and as such has gained considerable insight necessary to cope with the mountainous problems in education. In addition, he has held responsible community and youth activity posts.

Laguna Salada—James Cooper twice has served as chairman of the Jefferson High School board, gaining vast knowledge as a result. Further, his background of administration as assistant traffic department manager for the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce will add to the intelligent decision-making to be expected of a new, unified body.

Buettgenbach, a Fairmont Hotel printer and a high-ranking area Methodist Church officer, is a positive backer of the unification plan. He additionally has bolstered his experience as a member of the Laguna Salada Elementary School board for two years, which should enable him to grasp firmly the policy-making, directional demands that unification will bring.

Brisbane—The Post nod goes to Allen B. Rigler, who has behind him seven years of membership on the Brisbane Elementary School Board, can be expected more than anyone to represent his area as well as the whole of the new unified district wisely and with diligence. He is employed by PG&E in San Francisco. He is an avowed supporter of the unification movement.

Bayshore—Incumbent Ferdinand G. King, a veteran trustee, deserves a supporting vote even though he is the lone Bayshore candidate for the unified board.

Simonds Best Man For Supervisor

A search throughout the second supervisorial district of San Mateo County could not turn up a better qualified man to replace veteran Supervisor Edward R. McDonald than Candidate U.S. Simonds Jr. It is not often that voters get the chance to choose a man so eminently well-fitted to the new post he seeks.

In the case of Simonds they have the opportunity to pick a man whose experience in public service is not reckoned in years alone, but by variety of experience and by repeatedly proven ability, competence and vision. He is a man who has gained, and has earned, the respect of both business and labor but, beyond this, has consistently demonstrated his devotion to the best interests of the whole of the public.

There are numerous examples of this. To name only a few: he has been a trustee of the San Mateo Junior College District since 1942, was four times president of the board and it has been during his service that College of San Mateo made the outstanding forward strides that today make it the pride of the county; from 1944 to 1952 he was a member of the Burlingame City Council and served three times as mayor of that city; and in 1952 he was president of the League of California Cities, Peninsula Division.

Simonds is a veteran and a Past Commander of the Burlingame Post of the American Legion. During World War II he was one of the key members of the San Mateo War Price and Ratio Board. He is secretary and past president of the San Mateo Boys' Club. He is a member of the governor-appointed Bay Area Transportation Study Commission.

There is almost no sector of local and Bay Area public life in which he has not served with distinction

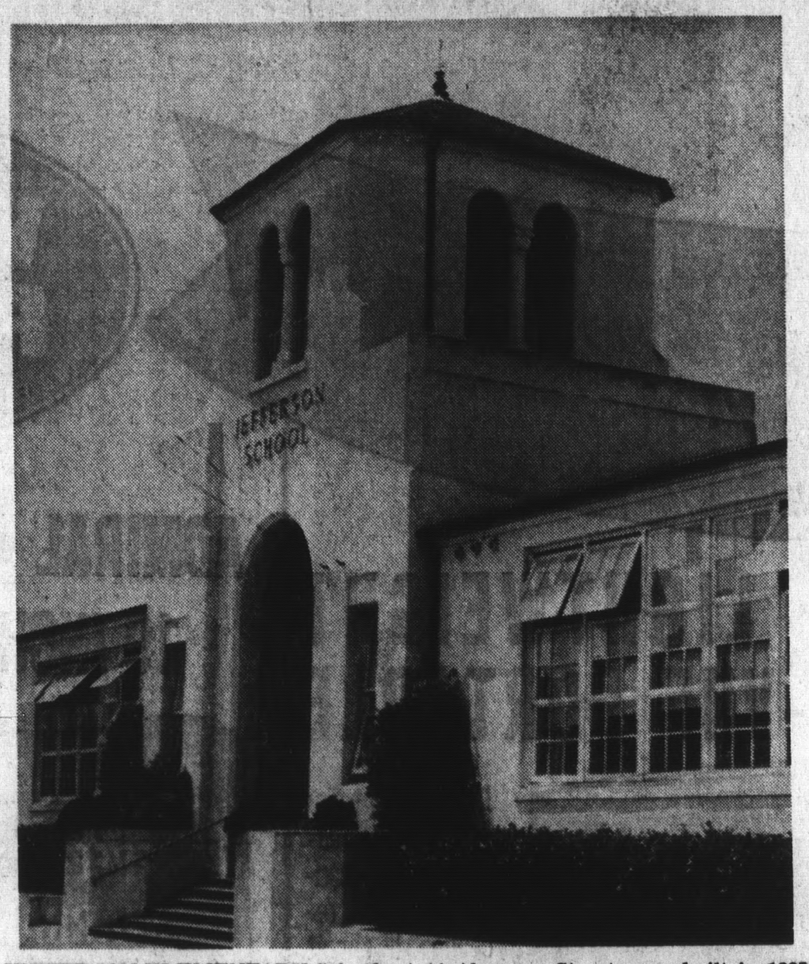
It is especially notable that he rendered virtually all of this service without remuneration, combining all this work with his successful career as a leading labor executive and a businessman.

If elected supervisor he has pledged to devote full-time to this job—and it is a job that needs full-time attention.

His candidacy offers the county's voters the chance to obtain a top-flight man for a most important public office and, at the same time, a chance to reward a citizen who has served them well and will continue to do so.

The Post recommends U.S. Simonds Jr., for Supervisor of the Second District.

Jefferson School



JEFFERSON ELEMENTARY School, at 14 Alemany Street, was built in 1835, now houses 260 pupils from kindergarten age through the sixth grade. Reflecting the growth of the time, an addition of two classrooms was completed in 1960. Principal is Thomas Notaro, who has held the reins there two years. Remedial reading is one of the special classes taught at Jefferson. (Post Photo)

Better Business

A Try at Serving Common Interests

Lorene Beasley

WHY WOULD the Better Business Bureaus after 52 years of successful service at a local level decide to become active at the national level?

It is certainly not because there is a shortage of government bureaus or professional consumer organizations! The last count five years ago showed 33 federal offices involved in 118 consumer activities employing 65,000 people at a cost of 953 million tax payers' dollars.

"At present, no impartial, objective facility exists at the national level to get into perspective, through broad representation, the common interests of the consumer, business and government" Herbert M. Cleaves, senior vice-president of General Foods Corporation said at the 52nd Annual Conference of Better Business Bureaus held at the Fairmont Hotel, May 23-26th.

"Moreover," he commented, "I came to the realization that if the gap isn't soon filled by the private sector, it will be by government."

The approaches on part of the government or on the part of special consumer interests hold little hope of filling this gap, as they refuse to include one of the three important elements — namely business — within their focus.

TWO GROUPS claim to represent the welfare of today's consumer. The professional consumer group seeks to control and direct business through restrictive legislation aimed at the protection of special interests of consumers. The second group strives to protect the consumer through education, greater understanding and more effective self-regulation of business, generally within the framework of existing law and within the spirit of a free enterprise system.

To fill the third gap Better Business Bureaus will open a Washington Office of Consumer Affairs. This office will not be ANOTHER office financed by tax money to protect the consumer at the expense of business but an office operating on national level, drawing from the combined experience of more than 110 Bureaus. It will be in a position to reflect to both business and government the consumer attitude toward advertising, products, services and financing.

THE AMERICAN enterprise system has matured to a point where it begins rather than ends with the consumer. It is not price competition but competition that creates new and better products and increases the demand for new jobs and new merchandise that keeps our high standard of living. Our progress has come about because of the consumer demands for such new products and services and anticipation for products that are on the drawing board for future production.

The new Washington office will result in gains by both business, who will be in better position to understand consumer attitudes and, by the consumer, who will have an outlet for tangible dissatisfaction with certain business practices.

Houseboating In the Delta

Don Miller

TAKE ALL the comforts of home (well, almost all), put them into a 38-foot long, 14-foot wide structure, place the structure on a couple of catamaran hulls, attach two 33-horsepower outboard engines and you have a houseboat.

Then take the houseboat, stock it with food and other provisions, people it with a crew of convivial friends and neighbors and houseboat your way into that fascinating complex of waterways — the California Delta.

Do all this over a weekend — hopefully seasoned with a dash of sunny and warm weather — and you'll come home Sunday night convinced that one of the great ways to spend a couple days away from the freeways is to meander — houseboat style — through the seemingly unending complexity of the Delta's sloughs.

We had the opportunity a couple of weeks ago to embark upon just such a safari—our first—and we came away somewhat sheepish about prior tirades we've vented against the power boat crowd—or anything to do with engines on the water.

For although we'll still carry the banner of sail when it's come to bay and ocean boating, the Delta, it's true, is more receptive to a craft whose primary means of propulsion is an engine. And in the case of some houseboats, two engines.

ONE OF the aspects of Delta houseboating that should appeal to any true wanderlust is the readily available moorage one finds most anywhere in the Delta.

You simply aim the boat toward a bank that looks inviting beneath a canopy of bushes or trees, toss out a land anchor and a stern anchor and settle down to the luxury of living self-contained on the water—perhaps a 1,000 or so miles away in thought from home but actually only a few dozen miles.

If you want to sort of leave civilization on your trip, you can find some winding waterways that are WAY out of the way, seldom visited by the Delta fraternity, where the only thing close to a civilized noise you'll hear all weekend is the sound of a jet.

On our excursion, we picked out what seemed to be idyllic mooring on the south end of Bacon Island (the Delta is crammed with islands bearing the most extraordinary names). The mooring had a partial view of an old lift bridge around a bend in the slough.

This bridge, however, that seemed so quaint and so very much a part of the scene quickly lost its attraction when the first freight train rolled over it, followed at measured intervals by a succession of other freight and passenger trains the Santa Fe Railroad likes to run through that part of the state.

THE DELTA'S bridges, incidentally, are a story unto themselves. Some are fixed—that is, they don't move no matter what size boat is coming down the waterway, sounding its bridge signal (three long blasts). Other spans are swing bridges and still others are bascule lift bridges.

It's a good idea, as we belatedly found out later, to find out well in advance which of the bridges are being operated, at what hours they operate and, in some cases, on what days. For contrary to the popular belief that any lift bridge should lift when it's supposed to lift, the Delta's spans are a highly individualistic lot.

We found out this disconcerting Delta fact of life after carefully plotting a course that would have taken us from our overnight mooring north along Middle River and through Connection Slough (those names again) back to the point of origin.

The course showed a bridge between Bacon Island and Lower Jones Tract and according to the U.S. Coast and Geodetic Survey chart, the bridge was supposed to swing—not like on a dance floor but open, like to permit boats to pass.

The marina manager who had rented us our houseboat had indicated that all of the bridges we would encounter on our proposed itinerary would duly swing open or lift up once the magic three blasts had been sounded.

He warned, however, that at one bridge the keeper of the span lived in a little house down the road and that after sounding the horn, one should patiently wait until the keeper sprinted up the road to the bridge and did what he was paid to do.

Well, there is this house down the road from this bridge between Middle River and Connection Slough but it must be awfully empty. For when we tooted our horn, there not only wasn't anybody stirring in the bridge control house, there wasn't a sign of life down at the house. Nor, did it appear, at anyplace in the bridge environs at all.

Several repeats of the three blasts brought the same result as the first tootle and finally we concluded that either this bridge was opened only on alternate April Fool's Days or else the bridge tender was AWOL.

ANOTHER FACT of life one must be acutely aware of when houseboating in the Delta is that virtually all the sloughs look alike and what may appear to be a distinguishing shoreside feature at one bend along the way may be the same feature at 100 other bends.

This great potential for getting utterly lost in the Delta's checkerboard maze of waterways means that the wise captain relies almost fanatically on his charts. The absence of bridge-opening hours notwithstanding, an up-to-date Coast and Geodetic Survey chart is to a Delta skipper what the stock market tape is to a broker—indispensable.

One more facet of houseboating in the Delta that should be mentioned is the need for an astute hand when it comes to anchoring. We were taking a bit of poetic license when we mentioned earlier that a mere toss of the bow and stern anchors will provide a comfortable moorage for the night.

It isn't that simple. For the tides run swiftly in the Delta and many a boat owner has turned in for the day, only to be awakened in the middle of the night by the sound of his craft, bumping a piling a mile or so away from where it had been moored.

The trick, wise old Delta folk say, is to secure that bow line firmly to land and pay out plenty of scope on the stern anchor. That way you won't be looking up at a Port of Stockton sign in the morning when you had anchored in Sacramento the night before.

'Problems Ignored At Adolescence'

Samuel Chandler

"FAR TOO MANY parents simply abdicate at the point when their children reach adolescence. They ignore the problems of youth or, more blandly, leave them to professionals, the cope with.

"If no competent professional educators are available to give the necessary advice and help, the whole business goes by default. As a consequence, a considerable number of youngsters live through their adolescent phase in a condition of spiritual isolation.

"They have no reliable person to turn to for guidance, no one to discuss things with or whose experience they can tap."

These strong words come from the preface of a new book entitled, "The Young Pretenders." Its author, who is a professor of socal science, John Barron Mays, introduces the topics of his book, "Probably at no other time in the nation's history has there been so much adverse criticism of youth as there is today and so little understanding of what really is youths' role and function in society."

MANY PARENTS who grew up during the depression and World War II hold the opinion that something like a rot has beset Western youth. This leads to considerable publicity for the more flamboyant kinds of teen-age behavior; especially "the semi-delirious addiction to rock 'n roll, to jiving and other dance forms that have taken by storm such apparently dissimilar cities of London, Paris, New York, and Moscow."

Professor Mays believes that the actions of youth are a consequence of the profound changes in a widespread social revolution. Young people have accepted as one of their rights, the freedom to choose their own ideals of conduct and success.

Before them are an amazing number of choices. "The world at this stage of youngsters' development looks more like a gigantic cafeteria or vast emporium than anything else. The only difference perhaps is that there are no obvious price labels attached to the varying choices so temptingly arrayed."

IT FOLLOWS that parents compete with the purveyors of ideals opposite their own—some that grow out of mobility, rootless living, and social suspicion. Too often the results are frustration and even mental ill health or deflected and delinquent activities for either the parents or the youth.

To help perplexed parents and teachers, Dr. Mays' book should be required reading. It has three parts. Part two contains three sections: Coming to Terms with the Self; Coming to Terms with Society; Coming to Terms with Life as a Whole. Part three contains a section called, "Youth in Britain and U.S.A.—a Cultural Comparison," and "Further Aspects and Suggestions" which is a summary of the whole book.

PARTY PEACH RING

Throw Patio Party With Tasty Treat

C'mon along, we're having a patio party! Come warm weather and the summer season, most families move their center of activities to the patio or porch. It's generally the coolest spot of the house-relaxing, too. With such a pretty setting, it's no wonder homemakers like to entertain more often.

Now if your family is like ours, a patio party means ice cream. Any form will do so long as the servings are generous! You could eat the ice cream "as is." But better than that, why not really treat the family with this Party Peach Ring? It could not be easier to prepare and is just delicious.

The ring is gingerbread, baked from a mix in a ring mold. Don't worry about the oven heating your kitchen a few degrees—you won't be there—you'll be out on the patio. Once the gingerbread has cooled completely, it's time to spoon creamy, rich vanilla ice cream into the center. Pile it high, then add the final touch, a topping of canned peach pie filling.

The peach pie filling is golden and fruit-fresh, and comes ready for use from the can. Simple to fix, this is an ideal dessert for a lazy summer day.

Canned pie fillings will make it possible for you to enjoy pie a la mode during the warm season, too. Or try your favorite filling—cherry, blueberry, or apple—as a sundae topping. And take canned fruit pie fillings with you when you go camping; they're terrific on pancakes. It's all so easy and so good.

Party Peach Ring

1 13½-ounce package gingerbread mix
1 quart vanilla ice cream
1 No. 2 can (2 cups
Peach Pie Filling

Prepare gingerbread mix as directed on package. Pour into a buttered 6½ cup ring mold. Bake in a 375 degree oven for 30 minutes or until done; cool. Fill center of ring with ice cream. To serve, spoon pie filling over ice cream and gingerbread.

Makes 8 servings.

Here's Tuna Ring Recipe You Will File

File it under "F" for Friday, "L" for Lent, or "A" for anytime, but keep this recepe handy. Even if fish is not your special dish, you'll find this Tuna Ring Au Gratin makes fine eating.

Points in its flavor are:

Flaked tuna mixed with such goodies as ketchup, lemon-juice, and salt, sprinkled with grated cheese, and wrapped jelly-roll fashion in biscuit dough.

The biscuit dough is made from a mix to which you add chopped onions cooked in butter until tender. Then the roll is sliced, baked until brown, and served with a warm sauce made of cheese soup, ketchup, and pickle relish.

Special note: this recipe, using the most modern prepared foods as ingredients, adds up to some of the best old-fashioned flavor you've enjoyed since Grandma stopped baking rolls.

Serve the Tuna Ring with a green vegetable—glass-packed peas or beans for a suggestion—toss a green salad, and you have a meal that's fine for Friday or any other day of the week.

TUNA RING AU GRATIN

2 cans (7 ounces each) tuna, drained and flaked
1 cup ketchup
1 tablespoon lemon juice
¼ teaspoon salt
⅛ cup chopped onion
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
⅔ cup milk
2 cups prepared biscuit mix
1 cup shredded pasteurized process American cheese
1 can (11 ounce) Cheddar cheese soup
3 tablespoons sweet pickle relish

Combine in tuna, ½ cup ketchup, lemon juice, and salt; stir. Cook onion in butter or margarine until tender. Add onion and milk to biscuit mix; stir to make soft dough. Knead on lightly floured board 10 to 12 strokes. Roll into a 12-inch square. Top with tuna mixture; sprinkle with cheese. Roll up jelly-roll fashion and cut into 12 even slices. Arrange overlapping slices in a circle on a greased baking sheet. Bake in hot oven (400-deg. F.) until done and lightly browned, about 20 minutes. Combine soup, remaining ½ cup ketchup, and pickle relish; mix and heat. Serve with hot tuna ring. Yield: 6 servings.

1 pound asparagus (medium thick)
¼ cup water
1½ tablespoons butter
¼ teaspoon salt

Break off tough ends of asparagus and wash. With a swivel-blade peeler, pare thin outer covering from stalks up to buds. Slice stalks on the diagonal so pieces are about ⅛-inch thick and about 2 inches long; slice buds in half lengthwise. Turn into a 9- or 10-inch skillet with remaining ingredients. Cover and cook rapidly, stirring a few times, until tender-crisp—about 5 to 8 minutes; uncover and, if necessary, evaporate liquid over high heat. Makes 2 large servings.

EACH MEMBER of the family can have a steak of his own on Father's Day when club steaks are served. Serve the man of the day the thickest one, done rare or medium, according to his taste.

Charcoal-Broiled Steaks for Father

Sunday's big dinner also becomes Father's Day dinner when it's the third Sunday in June. It's the time and occasion to honor the man of the house with special effects, particularly a dinner that suits His Highness.

Broiled over charcoal out-of-doors or inside in the broiler, steak will be the big treat for this dinner. Club steaks which are the smallest steaks in the short loin section according to Reba Staggs, meat authority, may be cut ¾-to 1-inch thick for the youngsters in the family. For adults, have them cut at least an inch thick.

Moderate heat as the broiling temperature is the most desirable no matter where the broiling is done. This assures cooking to the proper degree of doneness desired, without unpalatable charring on outside and underdoneness inside.

Club steaks one inch thick, require a total cooking time of 15 minutes for rare and 20 minutes for medium. Add approximately five minutes of cooking time for each additional one-half inch of thickness.

Steaks such as these need little fancy fare on the menu to go with them. Try them with vegetable kabob garnishes, creamy potato salad and tossed greens with a choice of dressing. For dessert, go all out! Make it strawberry whipped cream pastry, apple pie with cheese or fudge cake.

A Delicate Spinach Hint To Spaghetti

Italians so enjoy the flavor of spinach that they add a delicate hint of this vegetable to one of their pastas. They call it tagliatelle verdi, but in America it is known as spinach macaroni.

(Buitoni) Spinach macaroni is made from a superior hard wheat containing more high quality protein and less starch than durum and other wheats. To the macaroni formula are added defatted wheat germ and food yeast which enhances the macaroni flavor and supplements the wheat protein making it equivalent to meat, milk and egg protein.

Bistecca alla Fiorentina means "steak cooked in a Florentine manner." The unusual flavor comes from the use of fresh lemon and parsley.

SPINACH MACARONI ALFREDO

8-oz. box (Buitoni) spinach macaroni
½ cup heavy cream
6 tablespoons butter
¼ cup grated Parmesan cheese

Cook spinach macaroni according to package directions. Drain and return to saucepan. Add cream and butter and simmer one minute, stirring constantly. Add Parmesan cheese, mix well and serve. Makes 2-3 servings.

BISTECCA ALLA FIORENTINA

2 porterhouse steaks, one inch thick
Olive oil
Salt and pepper
1 lemon, cut in wedges
Parsley

Brush steak with oil on both sides, sprinkle with salt and pepper. Grill over glowing coals or broil in preheated broiler about 8 minutes per side for medium rare. Squeeze one lemon wedge over each steak and sprinkle generously with parsley. Serve with additional lemon wedges and parsley. Serves 2-3.

Nippon Hamburgers Fried Rice
Peas with Mushrooms
Bread Tray
Pineapple Almond Cookies

Nippon Hamburgers Fried Rice

2 small scallions or green onions
1 pound ground chuck beef
2 tablespoons soy sauce
1½ teaspoons lemon juice
Fat for frying if needed

Cut root ends from scallions and wash; mince, including green tops—there should be 2 teaspoons. Mix scallions with beef; shape into 4 patties ½-inch thick. On a small platter, mix the soy sauce and lemon juice; turn patties in mixture; allow to stand for 30 minutes to 1 hour, turning a few times so meat absorbs marinade. Brown patties in a little hot fat in a skillet, cooking to desired doneness; or if a skillet with a no-stick lining is used, pattie may be browned and cooked without fat. Makes 4 servings.

An Excellent Recipe For Leftover Beef

An excellent way to use roast beef that's leftover.

Skillet Beef Lila Rice
Green Peas Crusty Rolls
Salad Bowl with Cheese
Rhubarb Cobbler Beverage

SKILLET BEEF LILA

1 tablespoon flour
1 can (6 ounces) vegetable cocktail juice
1 tablespoon (generous) dry onion-soup mix—as it comes from package
1-3 cup commercial sour cream
¼ teaspoon sugar
½ teaspoon celery salt
Rare roast beef—cut into pencil-thick 3-inch long strips (2 cups)
Salt and pepper

Into a 9- or 10-inch skillet, turn the flour. Gradually stir or whisk in the vegetable cocktail juice, keeping smooth. Add the dry onion-soup mix, sour cream, sugar and celery salt. Over low heat stir constantly until thickened and bubbly. Add beef (at room temperature) and quickly reheat. Add salt and pepper to taste. Makes 4 servings.

Joe's of Westlake New Look and Luncheon Menu

BRUNO SCATENA'S JOE'S OF WESTLAKE has been a restaurant byword with countless Bay Area and Peninsula diners for many years. In fact, October will mark the tenth anniversary of this well-established restaurant in Daly City. Many menu changes have taken place through the years—with the most recent addition being the feature of a special luncheon menu from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m., Monday through Friday. However, you are also invited to select from the regular menu, as well. Popular VINCENT DELL 'OSSO, a culinary wizard for 17 years under the Bruno Scatena banner, expertly tends to the preparation of the large and varied Joe's of Westlake breakfast, luncheon and dinner menus. And if you like hors d'oeuvres (hot and cold), Vincent has prepared a complete new assortment for the 12 noon to 2 p.m., 5 p.m. to 8 p.m. nibblers, seven days a week. An extensive interior remodeling has recently been completed—which means new, plush leather booths, counter seats, and floor covering brighten the comfort scene. The dining room overall seating capacity is 135, with the plush Cascade banquet room "tailormade" for 125 banquet and private party patrons. Service daily from 11 a.m. to 2 a.m.; Friday and Saturday, 11 a.m. to 3 a.m. Pianobar entertainment is featured in the cozy fireplace cocktail lounge, an ideal rendezvous for relaxed sipping. "KELLY," the ageless bartender, calls the cocktail lounge "signals" and blends your favorite cocktails.

PATTI PAGE, "The Singing Rage," who returned to the Circus Room Theater Restaurant at JOHN ASCUAGA'S NUGGET, last week, shares the spotlight with EDDIE PEABODY, "King of the Banjo," during their three-week stint through June 8. Rounding out the showbill will be the DOROTHY DORBEN SINGERS AND DANCERS, BERTHA and TINA with their Trainer, C. J. MADISON, and the FOSTER EDWARDS' ORCHESTRA . . . Plan now to take a trip to beautiful North Lake Tahoe and visit the CRYSTAL BAY CLUB. THE VERSITONES, who have been at the club every year since 1960, are now playing nightly for dancing. Enjoy cocktails and gourmet food at any of the club's fine eateries, whether it be from the Snack Bar or Crystal Dining Room. Treat yourself to a fun-filled vacation now at North Lake Tahoe and visit the Crystal Bay Club . . . Newcomers to the Casino Show of the Reno MAPES HOTEL are THE CHADONS, who join the well-established AL BELLO AND HIS FUN CAPERS to provide the dusk-to-dawn entertainment at the Mapes . . .

SINALOA HOST, JULIO ACOSTA, fits the gracious category, and the cantina's Mexican dancers have obviously been selected not only for their terpsichorean movements, but for their visual appeal. Headlining the show each evening is the Los Roquet Duo, along with Victor Buelna, Delia Martin, Raquel Flores, Raul, and Ginna. For a limited time only, Luz Garcia's Sinaloa is offering it's patrons a special "Two for the price of one" dinner. Just clip the coupon from today's "Bright Lights" and present it to any of Sinaloa's lovely waitresses, for one of the best Mexican dinners you've ever had . . . Nick Finocchio is often asked how he can serve such a delicious seven-course Italian dinner at his New Tivolo for as little as $2. Nick says he's been able to absorb rising food and labor costs by increasing his business volume . . . Phil Lehr spent ten years of planning and over a quarter-of-a-million dollars on the elegant new Wellington Room addition to his San Francisco Steakery. It's real luxury— and great food, that Steak Wellington.

BOB HOPE made the first public appearance of his career on a Las Vegas stage, and Sammy Davis stepped out of the audience to do an impromptu 40-minute show with the Lionel Hampton audience. Thus, Riviera Hotel's elegant Starlite Theater became the swingingest lounge on the fabled Las Vegas Strip. Davis dropped by the night before his opening at the Sands and led the applause for Hamp from his ringside table. When the veteran bandleader invited Sammy on stage, he needed no urging. He danced, sang and then took over the drums from Lionel. An SRO crowd roared it's approval . . . The beautiful Crystal Bay Club, located at the north end of Lake Tahoe, is now featuring dancing nightly to the music of The Versitones. Highway conditions are excellent and banquet rooms available for meetings, conventions, etc. Enjoy a scenic day, then relax in the cocktail lounge and feast on a vest-popping dinner in either the Crystal Dining Room or the Steak House, both specializing in gourmet food.

JOHNNY BALLARD, who has worked as barman at El Rancho Palo Alto for many years, is considered one of the most skillful mixologists in the business. The handsome chap has all the qualifications of a top-notch bartender: Mixes a good, strong drink, remembers your name, tells the latest jokes and knows when to be discreet. The Saturns entertain for dancing every evening . . . The charm of old Mexico awaits you at Pancho's award-winning restaurant in Redwood City at Five Points Shopping Center. Emphasis is placed not only on outstanding Mexican food, but also on the artistic decor in the dining room. Pancho's is one of the finest restaurants you'll find anywhere . . . Luca "cha-cha-cha" Long, cute and curvy mate of Gary Long, bandleader at Fred and Jerry Rapp's swank Holiday Inn in South San Francisco, jets off to Mexico, next week, for a two-week vacation with her parents in San Miguel. Hubby Gary will stay hard at work around the pianobar answering requests—like "South of the Border, Down Mexico Way."

GOMAN'S GAY 90'S opens two new revues, next Wednesday, which starts the celebration of their twenty-fifth anniversary. One is "Barbary Coast Follies," the other "Klondike Kapers, each loaded with comedy, dancing and singing. New in the shows are puppeteer Ray Grant, Sharon Layne, Lory Gilkerson, Mahaila Tello and Carol-Jean Thompson, with productions by Marah Gates. Also, Bee, Ray and Ray K. Goman . . . Cliff Chalet's athletic host, Danny Hountalas, just finished swimming to the Fiji Islands and back. That's how many laps of the Olympic Club pool he swam, as therapy for his sprained ankle (playing handball) . . . Showstopper in the new Galaxie show is Tony Farrar and His Band of Gold, especially when Farrar sings "More," the "Mondo Cane" theme song. The band also plays for the myriad of topless dancers at the Galaxie in San Francisco . . . The new luncheon fashion shows at The Prime Rib Inn proved an instant hit with the style-conscious ladies of Palo Alto. Chic fashions by La Contessa of Los Altos are modeled each Thursday from noon to 2 p.m.

With the aid of Ray Kinzel and the Paul Masson Winery, Mr. Dennison designed a restaurant with an intimate, Old World charm which is the delight of everyone who has ever visited a California winery.

Individual loaves of bread, a Festive Buffet, and a treasury of unusual gourmet dishes are featured.

Dignitaries Visit The Cote D'Azur

A dining mecca for countless motion picture and television personalities, as well as a favorite with members of the Peninsula's high society, Dan Biagi and Rene Canabou's Cote D'Azur in Atherton got another big nudge toward more sophistication when it was recently visited by a large group of dignitaries from France, who said they heard about the excellent cuisine served at the Cote D'Azur when attending a United Nations' meeting in Washington.

Open daily except Sunday, pianobar entertainment is featured nightly by well-known Augusto Amador.

Robert Mahoney "Work Awaits You"

Special hurry and get well message to Robert Mahoney, who has been convalescing at the Veterans Hospital for the past two months. Robert is advertising director of the Fena Transit Advertising Company. During his absence from the line of duty, "frantic" Fran Fena, the "boss," has been covering the bases like a pro. Beware, Robert. When you get back to your desk you will be "out in the field" faster than a Marichal pitch.

C. Wallace-Finocchio Star Back From Europe

VERSATILE CARROLL WALLACE after five years in Europe and Asia, has returned to FINOCCHIO'S unique night spot in the heart of San Francisco's North Beach area. A former Warner Bros. and Columbia film star, Carrol was launched as a female impersonator by the late Earl Carrol in Hollywood, assuming the late showman's first name. His experiences in Asia would fill a book with exciting incidents. Traveling through the jungles of Penang in a bus, Carrol and others in the troupe had to drop to the floor to avoid being hit by snipers' bullets. Many of Malaya's theaters are gorgeous and air-conditioned, according to Carrol, while others have bats flying around in them and banana trees growing through the windows. The entertainer has a host of fans, many of whom have been to Finocchio's to welcome him home. . . . LEW LEHR, the witster and Marina steakman, says the best place to spend your vacation is somewhere near your budget.

MILT'S TEXAS BAR-B-QUE

Feel in the mood for a delicious Bar-b-que dinner tonight? You can save yourself a lot of time, trouble, and burnt fingers by calling Milt's Texas Bar-B-Que Pit and have them prepare your meal. It's quicker, less expensive, tastes better, and best of all, there's no mess to clean up.

A former Texaco Service Station, located on East Third Avenue, and Railroad Avenue in San Mateo, Milt's Texas Bar-B-Que Pit is owned by Milton Roberts and Elizabeth Lichtman and is open from 4 p.m. daily, except Monday.

JULIET PROWSE VISITS DORAN'S

Singing-dancing star Juliet Prowse was a steady dinner guest at Doran's in Belmont during her recent Circle Star Theater engagement. Seems Juliet, Dubby Doran and Ken Pruitt were Hollywood acquaintances

One of the best-liked dishes among many at Del Vecchio's is their Rex Sole, a gourmet's delight.

Stickney's Ideal For Private Parties

Stickney's in San Mateo is conveniently located for private parties. Manager Ralph LePinski will arrange any kind of extras, including business meeting props, favors, and, of course, choice of menu.

Be sure to check the elegant, new restaurant for your next big dinner party. Reasonable prices and plenty of free parking.

Great reports on Woodlake Joe's special Sunday morning breakfast. My good friend Chuck Herschler and his lovely Virginia, were last-week diners here, and their comment was, "A whale of a meal—from Gin Fizz to Ham steak and eggs!"

The early summer season has kept Frank and Fannie Torres going at top speed at their Montara Beach restaurant-hotel. Plenty of parking space and an ocean view that is praiseworthy.

Happiness!

OF COURSE, this is the other side of Miss Daly City's joy — the Smile — after Vivian Rieger had the crown of her new office of beauty. See Page One. (Post Photo)

Skyline Scenic Highway Is Toured By Beauty Group

More than $3,000 worth of prizes will be given away by members of the Skyline Plaza Merchants' Association, during their current fifth anniversary celebration.

To participate, it is necessary to sign a register book in any Skyline Plaza store.

The Festival of Prizes will last four weeks, with a drawing each week. No purchase is necessary, but to remain eligible, one must re-register every week.

Winners of the first week's prizes included N. Laurucella, Daly City, a television set; Carleton Reed, Daly City, a watch; Mary Lee, Daly City, a watch; Marlin Street, South San Francisco, a salt and pepper set.

Rose Spencer, Dorothy Doody and Ruth Eisenman also were given watches; T. Lagomarsino and Jacqueline Jordan won carving sets, and Lenore Bell a gourmet set.

$500 BURGLARY

Daly City police are investigating the theft of a stainless steel swimming pool filter from a pump room of an apartment building at 125 Coronado Drive.

The building in Westlake is owned by Henry Doelger, Incorporated.

A Doelger spokesman said the filter is valued at about $500.

Highway Bids Studied

Bids for the extension of Guadalupe Canyon Parkway across San Bruno Mountain, the lowest more than $100,000 under the official estimate, are being studied by the county engineer's office.

The work will extend the thoroughfare from Radio Road atop the mountain eastward to the old Bayshore Highway near Brisbane.

The low bid of $986,223 was submitted by the Piombo Construction Company of Belmont, compared with the official estimate of $1,090,539.

Contract for the work was scheduled to be awarded by the Board of Supervisors this week.

Skyline Fifth Anniversary Celebrated

The proposed Skyline Scenic highway and Alpine Parkway through San Mateo County were viewed last week in a bus tour by the Governor's Advisory Committee on California Beauty.

The tour was led by Mrs. Edmund G. Brown.

"The purpose of this trip is not to look at what is naturally beautiful, but to see what citizen groups can do to improve their environment," Mrs. Brown said.

"Since much of the ugliness is man-made, so can it be unmade," she added.

San Mateo County officials participating in the event included Board Chairman T. Louis Chess, Supervisor Jean Fassler, Planning Director Reino Liukkonen, Parks and Recreation Director Ralph Shaw, Assistant Planning Director Larz Anderson, Deputy County Engineer Sidney Catwell, and Planner Rosemary Duggin.

"DENTAL HEALTH FACTS"
"Cavities"
There are millions of bacteria in your mouth. Some are quite harmful because they act on sugars and other carbohydrates to form acids. These acids dissolve the enamel of the teeth. That is the beginning of tooth decay.
Unless decay is stopped by a dentist, who removes the decayed portion of the tooth and puts in a filling, decay proceeds from the enamel into the dentin and then into the pulp. Once the pulp has been infected, it may be too late to save the tooth.
Have your dentist check your teeth and take care of any cavities that may be present.
Dr. Campbell limits his practice to the making of dental plates, partial plates, removable bridges and extractions for some; however, he recommends that you see your dentist at least twice a year in order to help prolong the use of your natural teeth as even the beautiful modern dentures are not as efficient as healthy, natural teeth.

Westlake Baptist Topic To Be 'Conflict of Ages'

Westside Baptist Church Pastor A. David Donnelly will speak on "The Conflict Of The Age," at the 11 a.m. Sunday service.

Special music for this service will be a vocal solo by Roy King, with Mrs. Jeanne King at the console of the Baldwin organ.

During the latter half of the worship hour, a primary church service will be conducted for primary and kindergarten age children.

Sunday evening, at 7 o'clock, family fellowship gospel hour, the missionary film, produced by the Baptist General Conference Foreign Mission Board—"Unanswered Islands" will be shown by Byron Skalman, a layman of the College Avenue Baptist Church of San Diego.

Board Adds 39 Persons To Committee

Thirty-nine more persons were appointed Monday night to a new citizens' committee that will study boundaries and possible de facto segregation in the Jefferson Union High School District.

The board of trustees previously had appointed 66 persons to the 100-man group. Of these, eight indicated they could not serve.

Richard Coltrell, administrative assistant, said three more persons will be named to fill out the 100-member complement.

The board has been selecting residents on the basis of the areas in which they live to give the committee a broad representaton.

In other action Monday night, the trustees:

Accepted the resignation of Napoleon Triplett, assistant principal—administration at Jefferson High School. He has accepted a post as principal of Placer Union High School in Auburn. He had been at Jefferson since 1960.

Heard a recommendation from Fred Goodell, assistant district superintendent, that the district hire a consulting firm for a year to inspect Westmoor's boiler systems. The board asked Goodell to put the recommendation in written form. Cost of the inspection would be about $1,000.

Voted to quit claim a pipeline easement through the Westmoor acreage to the Callan interests.

Called a special meeting for June 6 to continue study of the proposed 1966-67 budget.

War Veterans Plan Parley

The Department of California, Jewish War Veterans of the United States of America will hold its Annual Convention, June 17-19 at the Edgewater Inn Marina Hotel in Long Beach, it was announced today by Comdr. Morton Barrish of San Bruno and Fannie Bragg, Auxiliary President.

Highlights of the Convention will be three workshops. One workshop will train JWV leaders in the methods to utilize the California Veterans Service Bureau in handling veterans' claims and service. These services are performed by the California Veterans Service in the name of the Jewish War Veterans under an agreement reached through the JWV Service Commission headed by Joseph Solomonow.

Sydney Irmas, Jr. and Martin Roston will handle the Action workshop and will discuss ways and means to deal with extremists, and how to counteract the John Birch Society's program to change the character of America's democracy.

The other workshop will be conducted by Irvin Gerard and Robert Weinstein and will deal with membership and program.

Wong Named To Personnel Board Post

"He will do a marvelous job," enthused Daly City Councilman Micheal DeBernardi, as he recommended Robert Wong, 47, for membership on the city's Personnel Board.

His fellow councilmen agreed, and unanimously appointed Wong to the post.

He succeeds Jay J. Flynn, whose letter of resignation was accepted "with deep regrets" Monday night by the council.

Flynn, a California Highway Patrol officer, was recently transferred to Southern California. Referring to the CHP, Mayor Albert Polonsky said, "Their gain is our loss." At the council's direction, a resolution commending Flynn for his service to the city is being prepared.

Wong, who has been in business in Daly City for 15 years, is the owner of the El Rancho Market on Geneva Avenue. He and his wife have four sons, ranging in age from two to 19. The family lives in Daly City's Bayshore district.

Wong is active in such local organizations as the Boy Scouts, and is also a member of the Human Resources Commission of San Mateo County.

2 Westmoor Pupils Are Nominated

Muriel Friedman and Barbara Krow, two Westmoor High School students, have been nominated for the annual Achievements Awards Program, which is sponsored by the National Council of Teachers of English.

To grant recognition to outstanding high school students for excellence in English, NCTE is conducting a national awards competition.

When students enter the competition their writing abilities and literary awareness are tested and judged by local and state committees. The winners earn recognition from colleges across the nation and are often granted scholarships.

The Achievement Awards Program is a part of a plan undertaken by the Council to help improve high school English language and literature, according to James R. Squire, executive secretary of NCTE.

Beautification In San Carlos

Taking a symbolic artist's brush and palette in hand, San Carlos Mayor Joseph E. Judge signed a proclamation designating the period of June 4 through June 11 as San Carlos Beautification Week.

The occasion heralds a unique community-wide endeavor to establish a program to beautify the city environs and further interest in area arts and crafts. The week-long observance will culminate in the San Carlos Summer Arts and Music Festival on June 11 at Burton Park, Cedar Street and Brittan Avenue from noon until 5 p.m.

The week's events co-sponsored by the San Carlos Chamber of Commerce and Civic Garden Club of San Carlos are the outcome of a recommendation for a city tree planting program made at the first annual San Carlos Congress for Community Progress in January. The unusual en masse do-it-yourself project undertaken by the people of San Carlos is aimed this year toward the goal of raising funds to purchase 5,000 trees to landscape the highway entrance and main street approaches to the city.

Increased impetus was given to the endeavor when it was reported that the California State Highway Department estimated that any landscaping of the main Holly Street interchange leading to San Carlos could not be undertaken until completion of the Bayshore tie-in with the proposed Redwood Shores development, some 10 to 12 years hence. It was then that civic minded residents decided to undertake the extensive beautification project themselves as a community program, which would not only add to the appearance of San Carlos but to the beauty of the Peninsula itself.

The beautification observance will commence with San Carlos Tree Day on June 4 when symbolic "I Bought a Tree" badges will be available to Peninsula residents for the donation of one dollar, purchase price of one tree. The tree buttons will serve as admission to the afternoon San Carlos Arts and Music Festival on June 11.

The fete al fresco will feature exhibitions of local and other Bay Area artists and talented craftsmen. Art-in-action displays and demonstrations as well as areas where artwork will be on sale by the artists themselves will be included. The outdoor galleries and indoor exhibition hall will highlight paintings, sculpture, ceramics, mosaics, photography and other allied handicrafts.

Terra Nova Topics

Yawns are a common symptom to be found at Terra Nova, lately. There is a shortage of buses and drivers since the Greyhound Lines, which provide some of the school district's transportation, went on strike, and the regular school buses have to carry the extra load. This was accomplished by upping the TN schedule by half an hour. And so the school bell summons sleepyheads at the unearthly hour of 7:30 a.m. till the strike endeth.

Journalism Awards

MOST VALUABLE STAFFERS — Outstanding journalism students from 22 San Mateo County High Schools Tuesday night received plaques honoring them for their contributions to their high school publications. Among the winners was Dianne Shafer of Capuchino, shown with her journalism adviser, Coburn T. Palmer, left, and J. Hart Clinton, editor and publisher of The Times, sponsor of the "Most Valuable Staffer" awards. A total of 77 persons, including school superintendents, principals and faculty advisers, attended the banquet, held at the Villa Chartier in San Mateo. (Post Photo)

CSM Award Of Merit For Landscaping

College of San Mateo's landscape design has been selected for a 1966 "award of merit" by the American Society of Landscape Architects.

The plan was created by the architectural firm of John Carl Warnecke and Associates.

The Warnecke firm, which also prepared the campus master plan and designed the individual buildings, is now working on the architecture for Skyline College in San Bruno, one of two CSM "sister institutions" soon to be constructed.

Primary objectives of the San Mateo landscape plan were "to create an environment identifiable with that of a community college through the introduction of pedestrian malls between buildings, interior courts and patios, including an outdoor theater-in-the-round," according to the designer.

AUTO RANSACKED

Denzil Smith of 355 Southgate Avenue, Daly City, reported to police last week that his auto had been ransacked.

Hot Ducting Starts Fire At Westview

Uninsulated sheet metal ducting became overheated last Sunday and led to total destruction of the roof of the Russell Rogers home at 351 Glencourt Way, in the Westview tract of Pacifica.

Pacifica firemen put an uunofficial loss estimate of $4,000-$5,000, although investigation was incomplete.

The 10:57 a.m. fire was confined to the attic and roof although there was smoke damage throughout the two-story frame home.

Rogers, was attending a Little League opening day ceremony when the fire started.

Firemen noted this to be the fourth call in about 30 days to the tract to cope with fires that started from the gas heating system, which is ducted, they said, without insulation between the first and second floors.

But it was the first major blaze because it went undected for a longer time.

Flames already had worked through the roof when firemen were called.

Fireplace Fails To Hold Blaze

Fire worked its way down through a brick fireplace and caused an estimated $1200 damage at 105 Morningside Drive, Daly City, Saturday.

Firemen explained that the flames burned studding and cabinets in the basement below the fireplace, moving toward the outside of the house, occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Johnson.

Rigs were at the scene for almost two hours after the alarm was sounded at 8:30 p.m.

Earlier siding of two vacant houses, abandoned for a Bay Area Rapid Transit project, was burned Saturday.
